Through the use of metaphors, Jesus continues to teach his closest followers. If salt loses its taste, it can't be good for seasoning; if disciples are not worthy followers of Jesus, they can't influence other followers. Considering Jesus metaphor of being "light," the disciples were being told that they should shine forth as examples in the way that they lived and how they treat other people. Jesus' teaching must have challenged his disciples.

Matt 5:13-16(Celebrating Sunday for Catholic Families 2016-17)

On the Way Home Jesus' disciples were ordinary people. Can you name an ordinary person who is a good disciple of Jesus? ? (Celebrating Sunday's for Catholic Families 2016-17, LTP

HILLS May the God of HILLS be with you. Remembering hills you have seen in the past, may your thoughts always rise up to goodness, truth, and beauty. May God May God carry you through your uphill struggles and run with you in the downhill freedoms. May your faith and your concern for others encourage them to walk the hills of their lives with courage, trust, and freedom. May the blessing of the HILLS be with you. By Maxine Shonk, OP
