Lord, thank You for the gift of my mother. Thank You for her love and care for me, for her sacrifices for me, and for all she does for me. I ask that You bless her abundantly. May You continue to bless her all of her days and bless and guide her in all her endeavors. May You grant her strength of mind and body, peace of heart and mind, and a faith that is strong and unyielding. Please help her to grow in strength of body, mind, and spirit, and to grow in wisdom and grace as the years go by. May You protect and watch over her always and keep her safe from harm. May she grow more in love with You each day that passes and may she enter Your eternal Kingdom when her time on earth is complete. Amen.

ASK A CATHOLIC

QUESTION: How do Catholics show reverence for the Eucharist?

ANSWER: When we come forward to receive the Body and Blood of Christ in the form of bread and/or wine, we should walk with reverence and dignity, signifying the profound nature of what we are about to do, joining Christ's Body to our own. Approaching the altar with folded hands, we bow our heads before receiving Holy Communion and show deep reverence as we receive. Our reverence for the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Christ is reflected in our solemn "Amen," "So be it," an act of faith in the Divine Presence. It is customary to make the sign of the cross after receiving; let us make more of an effort at a slow and meaningful one rather than a rushed sweep of the hand. Our reverence for the Eucharist begins even before we head to church. Fasting for one hour before Communion from all solids and liquids, with the exception of water and required medicine, shows our respect and reverence for His true presence in the Eucharist. We also must be in a state of grace (not conscious of having committed any grave sins) when we approach for Holy Communion. Reverence for the Eucharist should demonstrate our humility of heart and a loving commitment to live the Gospel values in faith, in imitation of and in unity with Jesus Christ, Our Risen Lord.
